Parks Printing Achieves FSC Chain of Custody Certification

Parks Printing has been committed to providing environmentally friendly printing solutions for years. Now we are honored to announce our recent certification to Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) standards (Cert. No. SCS-COC-001723). Parks Printing is one of the only FSC certified printers in the greater central valley.

The Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) is an international organization that promotes environmentally appropriate, socially beneficial, and economically viable management of the world's forests. www.fsc.org

FSC certification serves as an inventory control system that verifies the source of papers utilized in manufacturing and tracks these certified products throughout the inventory and distribution process. Parks Printing's chain of custody certification means that certain paper purchased is segregated and documented as having originated in an FSC-certified forest, and therefore Parks Printing has the ability to produce environmentally responsible printed products by using FSC-certified paper.

To become certified, Parks Printing worked with the internationally recognized Scientific Certification Systems (SCS) who is an independent third party certifier of environmental practices for printing, forestry, green building, product manufacturing, agricultural production, fisheries, and energy and food processing. Their certification programs and standards are aimed at spurring the highest level of environmental improvements, social accountability and product performance.

We are proud to say, "By doing business with Parks Printing, you have the confidence of knowing you are contributing to responsible management of the environment."
